My son plays for Pacific Elite Club Basketball team based at Pan Pacific Park, one of the event hosts. It's open to the community.

One of our wonderful readers sent us the information about The Oaks School in Hollywood's Holiday Bazaar. She's one of the event co-chairs:

“The event is December 6th, 2013 from 2:30-7:30 p.m. is open to the community. It would be a great opportunity for families to see the school, our fantastic kids and meet parents. The very special thing about the Oaks is the sense of community we have and aside from our weekly parent coffee on Fridays, the Holiday Bazaar is one of the best times to witness this. Our students are very much a part of the Bazaar- we start after school and have an array of fun activities for the kids including a workshop by The Actor's Gang, crafts, games and a photo booth. The children also have two booths at the Bazaar- one for crafts they have created and another for baked goods made by students. They staff the booths with the help of a few parent volunteers and sell their handmade items. In addition to terrific vendors, Loteria Grill will be serving dinner.” • The Oaks School

Interesting article in The Atlantic which says black boys fit in more easily in white suburban schools than black girls and gives reasons as to why social acceptance of black boys happens more easily. (The Atlantic)

Pasadena Waldorf School's 28th Annual Elves' Faire. Sat. Nov. 23, 10 a.m.-4:00 p.m. Open to the community. Pasadena Waldorf School.

Start your weekend with these heartwarming, adorable photos of Momma's Gone City's toddler and their rescued puppy together daily at nap time. Love.
