

Admissions Letters: A Roundup of Previous Posts. And Good Luck!

Description

default watermark

default watermark

Hi Everyone!

We've written a lot about admissions letters over the years. Below is a list of our previous posts which cover acceptances, wait-lists and rejection letters. For most people, this is the most stressful part of the admissions journey. I have been through this process twice for both kids, receiving acceptance and wait-list letters. I know what it's like to wonder where your child will be going to school, hoping that it works out the way you envision it, being caught off-guard when something goes wrong (like in our situation, applying to middle school without the support of your head of school—naming no names!). If you get good news acceptance letters, congratulations! If your child is wait-listed or you received rejection letters, check out the posts below or pick up a copy of our book. Or, you may have to choose between schools. This is a great situation to be in, but can also be challenging. Sometimes, families get into their second choice school, but are wait-listed at their first choice. It can get complicated. Please note that some schools notify families using email—please check your junk folder if you don't see an email. Other schools use online systems like Ravenna. A few schools use the post office to send letters. We wish you all the best in your quest for a great school for your family. Good luck!"Christina and Anne Simon

Waiting, Waitlists and Waitpools by Lisa Marfisi

Waiting for Admissions Letters and Getting In, Wait-listed, Rejected by Barbara Cameron

You Are More Than A Wait-List Number by Sandy Eiges

Waiting For Admissions Letters by Jenny Heitz

Waiting For Admissions Letters: Advice From L.A. Admissions Directors

Grateful, Hopeful or Dismayed: When Admissions Letters Arrive

Various Types of Admissions Letters by Kim Hamer

Good News: How To Choose

0/X: What's Next When You Don't Get In?

Confronting Rejection: When Your All Isn't Enough

Tips For If Your Child Is Wait-Listed

Hiring An Educational Consultant To Go From Wait-Listed To Accepted

List of Educational Consultants

Getting Off The Wait-List and LA Times ‘Black Friday’ Postscript Mom Story \(re-post\)

Stay up to date on the latest L.A. private schools news and events! Follow Beyond The Brochure on Facebook. Buy the book on Amazon.

Category

1. Beyond The Brochure

Tags

1. Los Angeles Private School Admissions Letters

Date Created

March 4, 2020

Author

admin

default watermark