

Weekend Links: Outdoor Schools, Event Snaps and Praise for BTB

Description

We were very honored to learn that, Mommy Poppins, a national resource for fun, cool things to do with your kids, named Beyond The Brochure one of their favorite Los Angeles mom blogs! Here's what they say:

Beyond the Brochure

“Christina Simon’s blog and book about private schools in LA have become the industry standard. Her guest post in our Schools Guide offers a taste of her expertise; the Beyond the Brochure blog takes readers far more in-depth on private school issues.”
—Mommy Poppins

Thanks, Mommy Poppins. We're thrilled! See the link here.

I went to my first clothing swap event, where one person's trash is another's treasure. It was crazy fun as we swapped clothes, sipped drinks and tried on everything. Literally.

At a super-fun clothing swap event with some of my favorite L.A. mom bloggers (Jill Simonian, Sarah James, Jennifer Brandt (host) and Diane Mizota. Event was sponsored by Glad. #Trashcrashers.

The BEST party swag! Stuff moms can use from Glad. #TrashCrashers

Recently a friend told me about a forest preschool (and K) in Boston. Curious, I found an article about this interesting trend toward outdoor schooling—kids go to school in weather as cold as 15 degrees. (Boston Globe)

Have a great weekend!—Christina

Category

1. Beyond The Brochure

Tags

1. Events
2. Forest preschools
3. Mommy Poppins

Date Created

January 11, 2014

Author

admin

default watermark