Sandy Eiges

Sandy Eiges holds a Masters in Social Work, and has worked in and around education her entire professional career. She was the developer of a start-up Reggio-inspired charter school as well as a high school charter school for out of school/out of work youth in Los Angeles. She has a child who attended a Reggio-inspired preschool, an LAUSD magnet school, an alternative public school and a private school, and who will be attending an East Coast boarding school in the fall. Sandy founded L.A. School Scout to take the mystery and anxiety out of the school finding process for parents; and provide families with comprehensive information on all of their educational choices. She has been quoted as a private school expert in the LA Times, interviewed on Take Two at KPCC and featured on Kids in the House.

Sandy Eiges Event is Free but you must RSVP. Space is limited.
