

Beyonce Performs at Center For Early Education™s Gala (L.A. Times)

Description

There is absolutely no way any of us mere mortals would be able to compete with Beyonce and Jay Z for a spot at The Center For Early Education. No way. The school held its annual gala fundraiser where Beyonce performed, paying tribute to Reveta Bowers, the legendary head of school, who is retiring this year. It's so glamorous you just have to let yourself be swept up in the fabulousness of it all. This stuff is beyond jealousy or envy or even the fanciest private school auctions. It just is.

Here's the article in The Los Angeles Times and The Huffington Post.

Like Beyond The Brochure on Facebook for all the latest L.A. private school information!

Category

1. Beyond The Brochure

Tags

1. Center For Early Education
2. Los Angeles Private Elementary Schools

Date Created

March 8, 2016

Author

admin