

Relativity High School: A New 9-12th Grade Private School On A Movie Studio Lot

Description

Photo: Relativity High School

There's a super-interesting new high school on the L.A. Center Studios lot in downtown L.A. Relativity High School is a school for students who want to pursue a career in the multi-discipline entertainment industry. Relativity High School is a gifted & talented program affiliated with The Dwight School in NYC. I haven't seen the school and I don't typically post about high schools, but this one looks unique and just the type of school that might interest L.A. families! The school's tagline says it all, Relativity High School: Hollywood Meets A World Class High School.
