

LA Private School Moms' Favorite Bags • By Campus on The Daily Truffle

Description

Phillip Lim's chic handbag will play a starring role at one Valley school

Every private school has its own signature style. What could be more definitive than a handbag to showcase one's personal style? After checking in with our well-placed sources at various schools, here are some of the hottest designer handbags that we hear will be fixtures on the arms of some of LA's chicest moms.

Of course, well-to-do moms at several elite schools will be seen carrying the same uber-hot brands like Celine. At other schools, edgy moms will be setting their own trends with lesser known and new designers. Either way, it's fun to watch as morning drop-off becomes the catwalk. After all, nothing glams up a pair of Lululemon yoga pants faster than a Celine Tote. Me? I'm still carrying my gorgeous Reed Krakoff from 2012—can it go another season? We'll see. It has a lot of competition from the Celine bag and a Prada—I've got my eye on.

See our collaboration with LA's favorite social site, The Daily Truffle for a campus by campus list of favorite bags!

Tote it! This Goyard tote bag will be seen at lots of private schools around town.
